PRELUDE

A note before the details.

I built this mockup as a starting point — not a finished site.

Everything you see was put together from publicly available information about Franklin Printing, the existing site, and the brand you've built over seventy-five years on Beverly Avenue. It's meant to show what's possible, not to dictate the direction.

If you like where it's headed, we'll refine it together. If you'd rather take it somewhere completely different, we'll start from your direction. Either way, the design is fully custom and built around what works for Franklin — not a template.

THE BUILD

What's included in the build.

A complete, custom-coded website built specifically for Franklin Printing. No templates, no page builders, no monthly website-builder platform fees. Hand-written code that loads quickly and reads cleanly on every device.

The build includes:

- A full homepage built around your brand, story, and services.
- Dedicated sections for business printing, mailing services, QSL cards, and any specialty work you want to feature.
- A custom quote estimator (you can see a working version in the mockup) that lets customers describe their project and request pricing in four simple steps.
- A "Sample Work" gallery section — built into the site at no additional cost, ready to fill with photos of past work.
- Mobile-optimized layouts, fast page loads, and clean typography throughout.

- Hosting setup, domain configuration, and deployment.
- Full handoff: you own the code outright. If you ever choose to take the site elsewhere, you're not locked into a proprietary platform.

The included quote estimator covers a clean project-intake flow based on the version shown in the mockup. It gives customers an easier way to start the conversation, while giving Franklin better project details before the first call. If you ever want deeper functionality — detailed pricing logic, advanced product configurators, mailing-list intake, or more complex workflows — those can be added later as separate enhancements.

INVESTMENT

Investment.

ONE-TIME BUILD

$2,500

Covers everything in the build above. After deposit, we schedule a phone or in-person meeting to walk through your direction — what to keep, what to change, what to build differently. The site is then built, refined with your feedback, and deployed. You own the code.

OPTIONAL ONGOING CARE

$97 / month

Normal content updates, small copy changes, image swaps, seasonal notices, and minor site adjustments. No surprise invoices, no hourly billing.

Larger new features, new page builds, advanced integrations, or redesign work fall outside the monthly plan and would be quoted separately before any work is started.

If you'd rather just have the site built and handle changes yourself (or have someone in-house do them), the build alone is $2,500 and we hand off the code. No obligation to continue.

iv.

ADD-ONS

Optional add-ons.

$600

ONE-TIME

Professional photography

I work with a photographer who can come to the shop and capture your space, your equipment, your team, and your work. Real photos of Franklin tell the story far better than stock imagery. She'll spend the time needed to capture what you want shown — the Heidelberg, the bindery, finished pieces, the shop itself. Includes the on-site session and edited image delivery for website use.

$197

/ MONTH

Social media management

Ongoing Facebook (and optional Instagram) content. I'd set up a monthly posting schedule — graphics, copy, and photos drawn from your work — that you approve before anything goes live. Consistent posting, no time investment from you.

v.

RECOMMENDATIONS

A few recommendations beyond the website.

These aren't sales asks. Just things worth knowing.

Your Google Business profile.

It could be optimized further for local search. Categories, services listed, photos, post frequency, and review-response cadence all factor into how Franklin shows up when someone in Zanesville searches "printing near me." I can make basic recommendations during the build. If you ever want deeper help with local search, that can be handled separately.

Facebook posting cadence.

A consistent posting rhythm — even just a few posts a week — meaningfully improves how often your page reaches local customers. The social management offer above covers this, but it's also something you can do in-house if you'd prefer.

TIMELINE

How this works.

*01You decide if the direction is right.

Look through the mockup. Notice what feels like Franklin and what doesn't. Bring questions.

*02Deposit and kickoff.

A 50% deposit ($1,250) starts the project. We schedule a call or in-person meeting to walk through your direction in detail.

*03Build and refinement.

I build the site, you give feedback, we refine. Typical timeline is 3–4 weeks from kickoff to launch, depending on timely feedback, content, and approvals.

*04Launch and handoff.

Remaining $1,250 is due 14 days after kickoff or before the site goes live, whichever comes first. Site goes live. You receive the code, the deployment access, and a brief written walkthrough of how to update content if you're handling it yourself.

*05Ongoing (optional).

If you opt into the $97 / month plan, edits and updates start the month after launch.

NEXT STEPS

What I need from you to start.

- Confirmation that this is the direction you'd like to pursue, or notes on what you'd like changed.
- The 50% deposit.

- A scheduled time for the kickoff call.

That's it. Everything else gets handled in the kickoff conversation.

Payment of the deposit confirms acceptance of this proposal as a working agreement covering scope, timeline, and payment terms as described above.

CLOSING

A closing note.

Franklin has been on Beverly Avenue for three generations. The website should feel like that — careful, considered, built to last, made by someone who actually paid attention. That's what I'd like to build for you.

If anything in this proposal isn't clear, or if you'd like to talk through it before deciding, I'm a phone call away.
